3 Days practical course on Quality and Testing in an Agile setting

Our three-day training course is aimed at software delivery teams who are transitioning to agile and want to figure out all the different types of testing they need to do and how to fit them into frequent delivery cycles. Through lecture, discussion and hands-on exercises and simulations, participants learn ways the whole team can collaborate to plan and execute testing activities and build quality into their product.

With completion of the Agile Testing for the Whole Team course, you get a certificate of attendance and an invitation to complete an assessment of your learnings from the course. The assessment is meant to be a learning opportunity and not an 'exam' that you have to pass immediately.
